Dear Parents

We have been informed by a parent that they have a case of bed bugs in their house.

Guidance from the NHS states that they do not spread disease and are not dangerous but they can be upsetting and stressful to find. They are not attracted to dirt, so are not a sign of an unclean home.

They can be spread via luggage and clothing so it is possible, although not likely, that they have spread via clothing or bags in school.

Please be vigilant and if you would like further information please see:

Yours sincerely

N Hawkes
